COMPONENTES DEL CURSO

Sesenta programas de televisión de quince minutos cada uno.

Sesenta programas de radio de quince minutos cada uno.

Ocho videocassettes con los sesenta programas de televisión.

a) Para el autodidacta:

Cuatro manuales, con quince unidades cada uno.

Cuatro cassettes de acompañamiento, con textos y ejercicios.

Un libro de drills.

Cuatro cassettes de acompañamiento con la grabación de los drills.

b) Para el estudio con profesor (en educación de adultos):

Dos manuales, con treinta unidades cada uno.

Dos cuadernos de trabajo, uno para cada manual.

Cuatro cassettes de acompañamiento, dos por manual, con textos y ejercicios.

Todos estos materiales están coordinados y organizados de tal modo que puedan utilizarse de manera conjunta. Debe intentar, por tanto, trabajar con tantos medios como le sea posible. Ahora bien, y como es lógico, cualquiera de ellos (los libros más las cassettes, por ejemplo) puede emplearse independientemente de los demás, como material de estudio completo en sí mismo.

Este libro para autodidactas ha sido producido por el servicio de English by Radio and Television de la BBC, en colaboración con Editorial Alhambra, S.A., de Madrid. La BBC ha producido los programas de radio y ha coproducido, con los organismos alemanes citados en otro lugar, los de televisión. En todos los casos, la BBC ha aprovechado al máximo sus casi cuarenta años de experiencia en el campo de la enseñanza del inglés a hablantes de todas las lenguas del mundo.

Introducción

Uno de los principales problemas con que suelen enfrentarse los estudiantes de idiomas es la adquisición de las habilidades orales con un nivel de corrección suficiente y, muy en concreto, de la expresión oral. Y ello se hace especialmente importante en dos situaciones específicas: con alumnos autodidactas, que no disponen de un profesor que les corrija y, sobre todo, les anime, y cuando se pretende como objetivo principal del aprendizaje el alcanzar una capacidad de comunicación adecuada.

Por las razones antes expuestas se hacía necesario proporcionar a los estudiantes del curso FOLLOW ME este material de práctica oral a que nos referimos y que aquí se presenta. Estos drills permitirán al estudiante disponer de modelos orales para repetir, responder a distintos tipos de ejercicios, practicar oralmente las distintas construcciones y expresiones empleadas durante el curso y, en definitiva, tener a mano un modelo correcto que tomar como objetivo comunicativo.

Esta colección de drills se ha elaborado por los equipos de redacción del curso y grabado por los actores de la BBC de Londres que intervinieron en las lecciones ofrecidas por televisión. Su ajuste al método base es, por tanto, absoluto, con lo que usted podrá conseguir sin demasiado esfuerzo el nivel de corrección oral deseable y que, como es sabido, se corresponde con el Threshold Level definido por el Consejo de Europa.

Utilización del material (texto y cassettes)

A cada una de las sesenta unidades del curso corresponden varios ejercicios orales o drills (cinco o seis normalmente) que se centran en los principales problemas y dificultades de comunicación tratados en la unidad respectiva. Cada drill consta a su vez de una serie de «estímulos orales» sobre los que el alumno deberá construir su respuesta. Esta puede adoptar varias formas diferentes: unas veces consistirá en la repetición del estímulo; otras, en la construcción de frases basadas en el mismo; otras, en la sustitución de algunos elementos en la frase base para formar otra semejante, etc. En cada caso se ofrecen uno o dos ejemplos que permitirán al estudiante conocer de qué trata el ejercicio y el tipo de frases que deberá utilizar como respuesta.

Tras cada estímulo sigue una pausa en la que deberá usted responder, y a continuación sigue la respuesta correcta, con la que usted podrá comparar la suya propia. Esta comparación es precisamente la base del aprendizaje. Su propia corrección, al comparar su respuesta con la respuesta correcta que le sigue, le irá permitiendo mejorar progresivamente su grado de corrección en el manejo de las distintas formas orales estudiadas.

El sistema de trabajo que recomendamos en el siguiente:

- 1. Escuche los ejemplos y los distintos estímulos una o dos veces sin abrir el libro.*
- 2. Intente realizar el ejercicio comparando en cada caso su respuesta con la respuesta correcta que sigue a la pausa. Intente el ejercicio de esta forma varias veces hasta que alcance un nivel de corrección que usted mismo considere suficiente.*
- 3. Realice de nuevo el ejercicio con el libro abierto, comprobando, si lo considera preciso, las respuestas correctas en la sección correspondiente del libro. Si no hubiera usted alcanzado un grado de corrección suficiente o si le resultara difícil dar las respuestas a determinados estímulos, o bien no consiguiera reconocer alguno de ellos, vuelva a la fase 2 antes de pasar al siguiente drill.*

DRILLS, ejercicios estructurales para estudiantes del curso FOLLOW ME

Atendiendo a la demanda de material complementario por parte de gran número de estudiantes de FOLLOW ME, la BBC ha preparado una serie de ejercicios estructurales, o DRILLS, para revisión y refuerzo de los conocimientos adquiridos con este curso.

Como se sabe, el Drill es un tipo de ejercicio que permite al estudiante responder a determinado estímulo con una frase (más complicada a medida que se avanza en el curso) durante la pausa que la grabación ofrece, pudiendo oír inmediatamente la frase correcta a un actor-locutor de la BBC.

Los progresos que se consiguen con este material en el dominio del inglés hablado son espectaculares.

Material idóneo para alcanzar el nivel necesario para la obtención de un título como el «First Certificate», que extiende la Universidad de Cambridge para este curso.

Se compone de:

- * Un libro con el texto de más de 400 grupos de ejercicios.
- * Cuatro cassettes con la grabación de los ejercicios. (Duración total aproximada, 300 minutos.)
